Picasso Class update

Dear Parents/ Carers,

I write with the good news that Miss Cornwell has been successfully appointed as the new class teacher for Picasso class. During the interview and selection process, we were able to have Miss Cornwell teach the class on a supply basis and she has therefore had an excellent transition period in getting to know the children.

The learning for the children has continued and Miss Cornwell has started this term with a good overview of the differing needs of the class, like any class teacher. Miss Cornwell will be available at collection each day for you to say hello if you haven't had a chance to introduce yourself yet.

Parents Evening has been set for 1st February – this will give a further chance to chat about your child in more depth.

Thank you for your understanding and patience over the last term.

Yours sincerely,

Mrs G. Sherwin

Head of School
